Location

Agawam, Massachusetts, is a beautiful community in the Pioneer Valley with a rural atmosphere that blends suburban living with affordable homes, a low tax rate, highly respected schools, and safe community neighborhoods. Agawam is a wonderful place to live, work and an alluring place to visit.

Located in Southwestern Mass., Agawam is bordered by Suffield, Connecticut, to the south; Southwick and Westfield to the west; and the Connecticut River to the east, which separates Agawam from Longmeadow. The town is located just a few miles from Springfield, and only 21 miles from Hartford, Conn. Boston and New York City are just a few hours travel by car.

The Pioneer Valley is comprised of three western mass counties, Hampden, Hampshire, and Franklin. Visitors come to the Pioneer Valley for its lively college towns such as Northampton, and Amherst, as well as for numerous attractions and amusements, including New England's largest and most popular amusement park, Six Flags New England. Other cultural attractions include the Emily Dickinson House, the Springfield Armory National Historic Site and the Basketball Hall of Fame.
